How we work together

Our member firms are all successful, independent businesses within their own distinct marketplaces. The independence of our member firms underpins our strength and diversity. We believe that only a network of genuinely independent, local member firms can hope to meet the many challenges faced by businesses in today's expanding marketplaces.

All firms within the network adhere to the same high quality standards and share skills, resources and expertise to create best practice and client focus.

Member firms are able to call upon other members around the world when needed to provide our clients with local expertise in any overseas marketplace.

Each assignment is co-ordinated by a partner within the client's chosen firm, usually based in the client's home country. The lead partner will co-ordinate all work being undertaken in another country, in order that it is carried out to the highest standards, both within budget and deadlines.

Our member firms are adept at guiding clients through the financial and regulatory requirements of moving into new territories, ensuring that they are not slowed down or hampered by confusing or unnecessary bureaucracy.

We work to offer expert technical guidance and practical help in equal measure. This includes a wide range of specialists and experts on every continent in which we do business. Our member firms have much in common with the clients they serve and are sometimes at the same stage of growth.

Global Coverage

Baker Tilly International has a global reach and is able to provide advice in all major business communities.

In addition to high quality firms with expert knowledge of local business practices, laws and customs, our network gives clients access to many member firms which are internationally recognized as being leaders in their particular field of specialization. For instance, approximately a quarter of the top 100 US firms of accounting and business advisors ranked by fee income are members of the network.
